

WHERE IS GOD WHEN IT

HURTS.?

Advent 2009

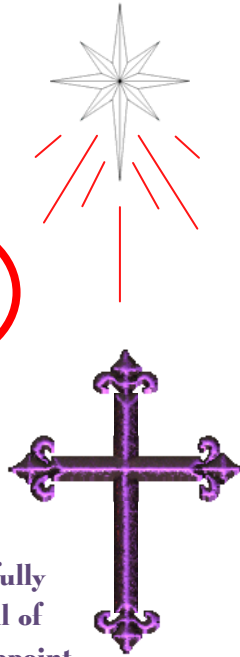

Martin Luther once said that Jesus Christ is “God deep in the flesh.” The Son of God became a real human being and took up residence among us. He entered fully into the human experience with all of its frustration, its sorrow, its disappointment, and its pain. By His Incarnation, our Lord prevents anyone from pointing the finger at God and saying, “He doesn’t know what it’s like, He’s never been there.” In a sermon series this Advent season, we will ponder the mystery of God made man, the mystery of God made a Suffering Servant, the mystery of the God Who empathizes with our sorrow, our frailty, our hurt.

Advent : Our Joy in Suffering

Advent : Our Hope in Suffering

Advent : His Grace in Our Suffering

Advent : Our Obedience in Suffering

HURTS.?

Advent 2009

Martin Luther once said that Jesus Christ is “God deep in the flesh.” The Son of God became a real human being and took up residence among us. He entered fully into the human experience with all of its frustration, its sorrow, its disappointment, and its pain. By His Incarnation, our Lord prevents anyone from pointing the finger at God and saying, “He doesn’t know what it’s like, He’s never been there.” In a sermon series this Advent season, we will ponder the mystery of God made man, the mystery of God made a Suffering Servant, the mystery of the God Who empathizes with our sorrow, our frailty, our hurt.

Advent : Our Joy in Suffering

Advent : Our Hope in Suffering

Advent : His Grace in Our Suffering

Advent : Our Obedience in Suffering

